

NIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT AT 24000-23860

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The benchmark index closed at 24,056, down 25 points, in a session that opened at 24,078, made a marginal high of 24,143, then sold off to a low of 23,953, the first genuine breach of the 24,000 psychological level in this consolidation, before a partial recovery closed the session back above it, a hammer like structure with the lower shadow well exceeding the upper wick and the body. This is the third straight session below the 50 DMA, and MACD line and signal have converged to within 3 points of each other, the tightest gap in weeks and a setup that could resolve with a crossover in either direction from here. RSI held at 43, still below the midline. Volume dropped sharply from Monday's exceptional 711M, a normalization after that distribution spike rather than a continuation of heavy selling. The intraday breach of 24,000 followed by a recovery back above it makes this level the key line to watch, a close back below it on a fresh test would be the first confirmed breakdown of the current range.

BANKNIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT 57000-56500

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The banking index closed at 57,410, down 615 points, giving back essentially all of Monday's breakout in a single session, opening at 57,560, extending briefly to a high of 57,766, before a sharp reversal to a low of 57,151 and only a partial recovery into the close, a bearish structure with large shadows on both sides that shows the failed follow through was contested rather than a clean rejection. The close now sits below both the 50 DMA and the 200 DMA, fully erasing the breakout structure and pulling the index back, a classic bull trap pattern where a decisive break above a key level fails to hold within the very next session. RSI eased to 48, and MACD line eased from Monday, with the signal improving slightly and the histogram narrowing, a milder momentum pullback than the sharp price reversal alone suggests. Volume eased from Monday's, though it remains meaningful given the size of the reversal, reinforcing that this was genuine selling rather than a low conviction fade. The reclaimed then lost 58,000 level is now overhead resistance, with both DMAs needing to be reclaimed on a closing basis.
