

NIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT AT 23720-23570

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The benchmark index closed Friday at 23,898, up 24 points, though the session structure was more bearish than the modest gain suggests, opening at 23,911, testing a high of 24,006 that broke above the psychological 24,000 level intraday for a third time in four sessions, then reversing to close near the day's low with only a token 2 point lower wick, a shooting star structure with a large upper shadow that confirms 24,000 as firm resistance rather than a level the index can hold above. RSI extended its slide, the lowest reading since early July, and MACD line has fallen sharply, dropping back below signal and reversing Thursday's brief bullish crossover within a single session, the third such whipsaw around the zero line in the past two weeks. Volume eased from Thursday's, meaning the rejection did not come with a distinct pickup in selling pressure. The close remains well below both the 50 DMA and the 200 DMA, with 24,000 now confirmed as the level to watch on any further test, and 23,720, the immediate support underneath.

BANKNIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT 57000-56500

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The banking index closed Friday at 57,370, down 11 points, in a session that opened at 57,493, rallied to a high of 57,677, then reversed to close near the low, a bearish candle with a long upper shadow that confirms the supply seen on Thursday remains firmly in place. This is the first close below the 200 DMA, since the index reclaimed it weeks ago, pulling the structure below both key averages for the first time in this consolidation and shifting the near term bias more defensive. RSI eased to 48, just below the midline, and MACD line held with the histogram, staying above the signal, a more resilient momentum picture than the price weakness alone suggests. Volume dropped sharply from Thursday's, the lightest session in weeks, meaning the loss of the 200 DMA came without strong conviction behind it. With both DMAs now overhead, a close back above the 200 DMA is the first level needed to repair the structure, while the recent low near 56,800 remains the deeper support if the slide extends.
