

NIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT AT 23380-23240

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The benchmark index closed the previous session at 23,478, up 46 points, after opening at 23,447, dipping to a low of 23,380, then recovering through the session to close near the high of 23,495. The candle carried a lower wick close to twice the size of its upper wick, a hammer-like structure following the break of the ascending triangle's trendline support. Price remains below both the 50-day and 200-day moving averages and below the cloud. The MACD line extended further below both the signal line and the zero line even as price closed higher, with the histogram slightly more negative than the previous session, a divergence between price and momentum worth flagging. The RSI ticked up to 29, still below 30 and inside the oversold zone. Volume came in at 253 million shares, below the recent average of 317 million, a further divergence given the session's gain was not accompanied by a rise in participation.

BANKNIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT 56000-55500

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The banking index closed the previous session at 56,472, up 176 points, after opening at 56,263, testing a low of 56,232, then rallying through the session to a high of 56,575 before settling off that high into the close. The candle's body accounted for most of the day's range, with a moderate upper wick and a smaller lower wick, marking a recovery day after the prior session's close at its low. Price remains below both the 50-day and 200-day moving averages, which sit in the 57,230–57,490 region, and below the cloud. The MACD line extended further below both the signal line and the zero line even as price closed higher, with the histogram slightly more negative than the previous session, the same price-momentum divergence seen on the benchmark index. The RSI ticked up to 39, still below the lower reference band. Volume came in at 183 million shares, roughly in line with the recent average of 186 million, showing limited participation behind the session's gain.
