

NIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT AT 23010-22830

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The benchmark index closed the previous session at 23,119, down 280 points, with the close again printing exactly at the session low, the second such close in the last three sessions. The session opened at 23,576, tested a high of 23,593, and sold off through the entire day without any recovery, leaving only a minor upper wick and no lower wick — a near-marubozu bearish candle. Price remains below both the 50-day and 200-day moving averages and below the cloud, and the close now sits well below the rising trendline of the ascending triangle extending back to the April low near 22,190, confirming the breakdown flagged in recent sessions. The MACD line has extended further below both the signal line and the zero line, with the histogram also more negative than the prior reading, while the RSI has fallen to 22, deepening its move into oversold territory. Volume rose, above the recent average, marking a second consecutive session where the decline carried volume confirmation rather than divergence.

BANKNIFTY SPOT : IMMEDIATE SUPPORT 55500-55000

Source – TradingView, BP Equities Research

The banking index closed the previous session at 55,795, down 812 points, with the close also printing exactly at the session low. The session opened at 56,884, tested a high of 56,996, and sold off through the entire day without recovery, leaving a modest upper wick and no lower wick, the same near-marubozu structure seen on the benchmark index. Price remains below both the 50-day and 200-day moving averages, which sit in the 57,240–57,410 region, and below the cloud. The MACD line has extended further below both the signal line and the zero line, with the histogram also more negative than the prior reading, mirroring the acceleration in bearish momentum on the benchmark index. The RSI has fallen to 33, extending its decline and approaching but not yet in the oversold zone. Volume rose to 253 rose above the recent average, also confirming this decline with volume rather than showing the divergence seen in earlier sessions.
